FIERCE GALES ARE RAGING IN BRITISH CHANNEL

SCORES OF SHIPS ARE IMPERILLED BY THE STORMS

WIRELESS CALLS FOR HELP RECEIVED FROM SIX STEAMERS

WAVES POUND SO HARD AS TO ALTER CONFORMATION OF COAST LINE
(By United Press)

A ninety-mile gale, sweeping through England, across the Channel, and into Belgium, France and Germany, took at least five lives, and wrought havoc in cities and towns in the British Isles and on the continent last night.

Three men were drowned at Havre, and two persons were killed near Hazebrouck, France.

London, Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—A renewal of the destructive storms that swept the British Isles in December, last night imperilled scores of ships in the English Channel, flooded farmlands and even altered the conformation of the coast line.

Wireless calls for aid were received from six steamers. Lifeboats and tugs were sent from Deal.

Hundreds of tons of rock collapsed near Beachy Head, near Eastbourne, changing the coast line.

Three hundred telephone lines were down near London, and scores of houses in the country were unroofed. Channel service to Boulogne was halted, and all air passages cancelled. Much of North Wales is under water and hundreds of houses damaged.

Paris, Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—A cyclonic storm which battered France last night renewed its attack with fresh intensity.

Five persons were dead, two killed by a falling tree at Hazebrouck and three drowned at Le Havre.

Seven ships asked for assistance along the coast.

Several towns were damaged and partly inundated by high waves that pounded the coast.

The storm missed Paris, but tore gargoyles off the historic Rouen Cathedral, wrecked ships from their moorings at Le Havre and hurled the French steamship Ville D'Oran into the American steamer Jeddah.

The Havre basin felt the full force of the gale. The British steamship Duana was tossed against the dock wall and a crane mounted on a tug toppled into the sea, drowning the captain, engineer and stoker of the vessel.

A short circuit caused by the storm resulted in the burning of the beautiful 14th century church at Errapagny. Candles used when the electric lights burned out started the fire.

PROHIBITION LAWS TO BE ENFORCED NEW YEAR'S EVE

St. Paul, Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—The prohibition laws will be vigorously enforced New Year's Eve and any violators will be promptly arrested. M. L. Harney, deputy district administrator, announced here today. Any person caught with liquor in his possession will be taken to jail, Harney said, and will remain there until U. S. commissioners return from their holidays Thursday morning.

LIQUOR SEIZURE MADE, WHISKEYS WORTH $100,000

Ocean City, Md., Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—Eight men and a cargo of choice whiskey valued at $100,000 were seized by a lone coast guardman on the beach near here today.

The rum runners were transferring 1,000 cases of liquor from two small boats to three trucks when the coast guardman appeared and ordered them to surrender. The eight men gave no resistance. It was one of the biggest one man hauls in years.

Attorneys Still Fighting for Life of Prof. Snook

Columbus, O., Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—Attorneys for Dr. James Howard Snook, former university professor who is condemned to die January 31, for the murder of his co-ed sweetheart, Theora Hix, filed motion in the state supreme court today seeking a reversal of the court's decision refusing to review Snook's appeal.

Three Greek Cafe Men Killed in Car Accident

Columbus, O., Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—Three Greek restaurant proprietors were killed in East Columbus today when a Pennsylvania passenger train demolished their automobile. They were Gus Stefanis, 35; Andrew Karlos, 42; and Frank Keris, 35.

Vatican City, Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—Cardinal Gasparri, 77, papal secretary of state, was ill with influenza today. An official bulletin said his condition was not serious. Cardinal Gasparri is soon to retire.

Borah Claims Open Saloons Are Being Operated

'UNLOADED,' USUAL RESULT OF HANDLING DANGEROUS WEAPONS

Chicago, Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—John Draka, 60, was aiding his nephew, Alex Nastanski, prepare to observe New Year's Eve. He produced a gun.

"Here's a revolver to fire tomorrow night," he said. "It isn't loaded now, though," he added, looking into the muzzle as he pulled the trigger.

But it was, and physicians say Draka probably will die.

CHUKNOVSKY IN CHARGE OF SEARCH FOR BEN EIELSON

WILL FLY FROM KRASNOYARSK FOR YAKUTSK, WHERE THE SEARCH WILL BEGIN

EIELSON AND COMPANION BELIEVED TO BE BETWEEN ALASKA AND SIBERIA

Moscow, Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—Boris Chuknovsky, the Russian aviator who gained world-wide fame when he rescued several members of the dirigible Italia's crew, will leave Moscow Tuesday to take charge of the search for Capt. Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, American aviators missing since Nov. 9.

Chuknovsky will go to Krasnoyarsk by train, flying from that point for Yakutsk, where the search will begin. The lost aviators are believed to be somewhere between Alaska and Siberia.

Simultaneously, two Junkers planes at Providence Bay will begin a search toward Koluchinsk Bay, from the other side.

A radio message from Capt. Milovzov, of the Russian steamer Stavropol, stated that natives had seen a plane west of Koluchinsk Bay, toward Cape North, on Dec. 8. Dog teams have been ordered out for a search.

3 CANADIAN FLIERS JOIN EIELSON SEARCH

Nome, Alaska, Dec. 30.—The efforts of two pilots searching for Carl Ben Eielson in the Arctic wastes near Cape North will be supplemented by three Canadian airmen from Fairbanks.

An expedition of three Fairchild cabin planes, in charge of Captain "PAT" Reid, and with B. W. Droatch and Gifford Swartman as co-pilots, is ready to assist in the search for Eielson and his mechanic, Earl Borland, now seven weeks missing.

The Canadians, whose planes were brought from Seattle on a coast guard cutter, have assembled their planes and have tested them in the air, and will fly to Nome or Teller to begin their search as soon as flying conditions improve.

Pilots Joe Crosson and Harold Gillam, now at their base at the ice-bound trading vessel Nanuk, have so far been unsuccessful in their search.

Only brief radio messages from the Nanuk serve to break the Arctic silence with news of the progress of the search, and these become fewer as the vessel's fuel supply diminishes.

At least a week is expected to pass before Soviet planes can arrive to assist in the search, in response to semi-official requests from Washington.

The one month's food supply of the missing aviators must by this time be exhausted, and unless they have found assistance from Eskimos, officials in charge of the search despair of finding them alive.

FORD MOTOR CO. IN PROGRAM FOR 1930 EXPANSION

$20,000,000 TO BE SPENT FOR NEW BUILDINGS, $10,000,000 FOR PLANT EQUIPMENT

PRODUCTION ON THE NEW FORD BODY MODELS HAS BEEN INSTITUTED

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—The Ford Motor Company has placed a $20,000,000 O. K. on its 1930 expansion program.

In a statement expressing confidence in the continuance of good business, Edsel Ford, president, announced last night the company would spend some $20,000,000 for new buildings in the next 12 months and $10,000,000 for new plant equipment.

The huge expansion program was announced the day after the public was informed production of new Ford body models had begun and followed a wage increase for all employees announced a month ago.

China to Abolish Extra Territoriality Privileges Given Foreigners January 1

ADVICES FROM NATIONALIST REGIME RECEIVED

ALL FOREIGNERS IN CHINA ARE HEREFTER AMENABLE TO CHINESE LAWS, COURTS

FORMAL PRONOUNCEMENT WAS NOT IN THE FORM OF A NOTE

Washington, Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—Nationalist China's formal announcement that extra territoriality privileges enjoyed by foreigners would be abolished January 1 reached the state department today.

Foreign Minister C. T. Wang sent the official text to Howard Bucknell, Jr., secretary of the American legation, in a personal note and Bucknell forwarded the document to Washington. It states that extra territoriality privileges enjoyed by foreigners are incompatible with Chinese sovereignty and that after January 1 all foreigners in China must consider themselves amenable to Chinese laws and courts.

The formal pronouncement was not a note and was delivered to Bucknell merely through courtesy so the United States might have the official text of China's proclamation.

The United States government policy in respect to extra territoriality rights as explained by Secretary of State Stimson does not recognize Chinese authority to cancel privileges enjoyed by American residents in China. These privileges were authorized in a treaty negotiated in 1844. The treaty is subject to revision in 1944.

Stimson considers his note of August 10 an adequate statement of his Chinese policy. In that note, Stimson undertook to negotiate the extra territoriality problem at China's convenience with the reservation that the privileges could be abandoned gradually and only so fast as China modernized her legal procedure.

Washington, Dec. 30.—British and American diplomats have discussed joint action in China in opposition to cancellation of extra territoriality privileges on Jan. 1, but no decision has been made, it was learned today.

Chinese Minister Wu told the United Press he did not expect actual abolition of extra territoriality to take place for some time. He said the Chinese government had made a statement of principle and that it would be worked out only after consultation.

The state department interpretation of the Anglo-American conversation is that no definite proposal for joint action has been made although the subject arose during conversations.

That there has been an informal exchange of views among all nations affected by the Chinese threat to cancel treaty privileges was intimated here.

The Chinese proclamation announcing abandonment of extra territoriality privileges which was received today was considered to have been temperately worded. No orders have been issued to American naval forces in China to cope with any emergency situations, it was said at the state department.

Minister R. C. Wu has been discussing the extra territoriality problems for some time with American officials. The expectation here is that treaty rights will be cancelled.

Peiping, Dec. 30.—The mandate of the Chinese nationalist government under which the extra territoriality privileges of foreign nations are abolished, demands the immediate withdrawal of foreign military and naval forces from Chinese territory.

The declaration, which theoretically is effective January 1, not only abolishes all foreign concessions and settlements, but provides for the deportation of foreign troops, and the withdrawal of foreign warships from Chinese internal waters.

The seriousness with which the Nanking government has embarked on its new program to create a "China for the Chinese" is shown in the fact that one British concern already has received Chinese duty stamps and new taxation forms providing for conducting its business on new lines laid down by the government.

STRANGE EPIDEMIC OF SORE THROAT AT BARABOO, WIS.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—The state sought today to learn the cause and effect the cure of a strange epidemic of sore throats at Baraboo, where more than 300 have been stricken in the last month. Six have died.

Floyd Rath, Madison milk inspector, and two assistants, will check Baraboo's milk supply while Dr. W. D. Frost, of the University of Wisconsin, and Dr. W. D. Stovell, director of the state laboratory of hygiene, will work together on other angles.

They will make a house to house canvass to determine the exact number afflicted. Rheumatism, erysipelas and arthritis are said to follow first stages of the sore throat.

SAYS WETS WANT GOVERNMENT SALE OF ALL LIQUOR

MRS. ELLA A. BOOLE, PRESIDENT OF W. C. T. U., IN AN INTERVIEW

SHE PREDICTS DIREFUL RESULTS, SHOULD THAT COME TO PASS

Evanston, Ill., Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—As Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, sees it, the ultimate goal of American "wets" is the establishment of government sale of liquor.

She predicts direful results, should that come to pass, basing her forecast on her interpretation of a report of the Canadian government on the sale of liquor in the seven provinces where it is legal.

"A tremendous drink bill; increasing consumption of whiskey; evidence that government sale does not promote temperance, moderation, or sobriety, nor that it prevents the establishment of drinking places nor the operation of bootleggers; an increase in drunkenness; an increase in convictions for drunken driving."

In that paragraph she summed up in a letter to state W. C. T. U. presidents today her analysis of the Canadian report, issued by the bureau of statistics at Ottawa under the title, "The Liquor Traffic in Canada."

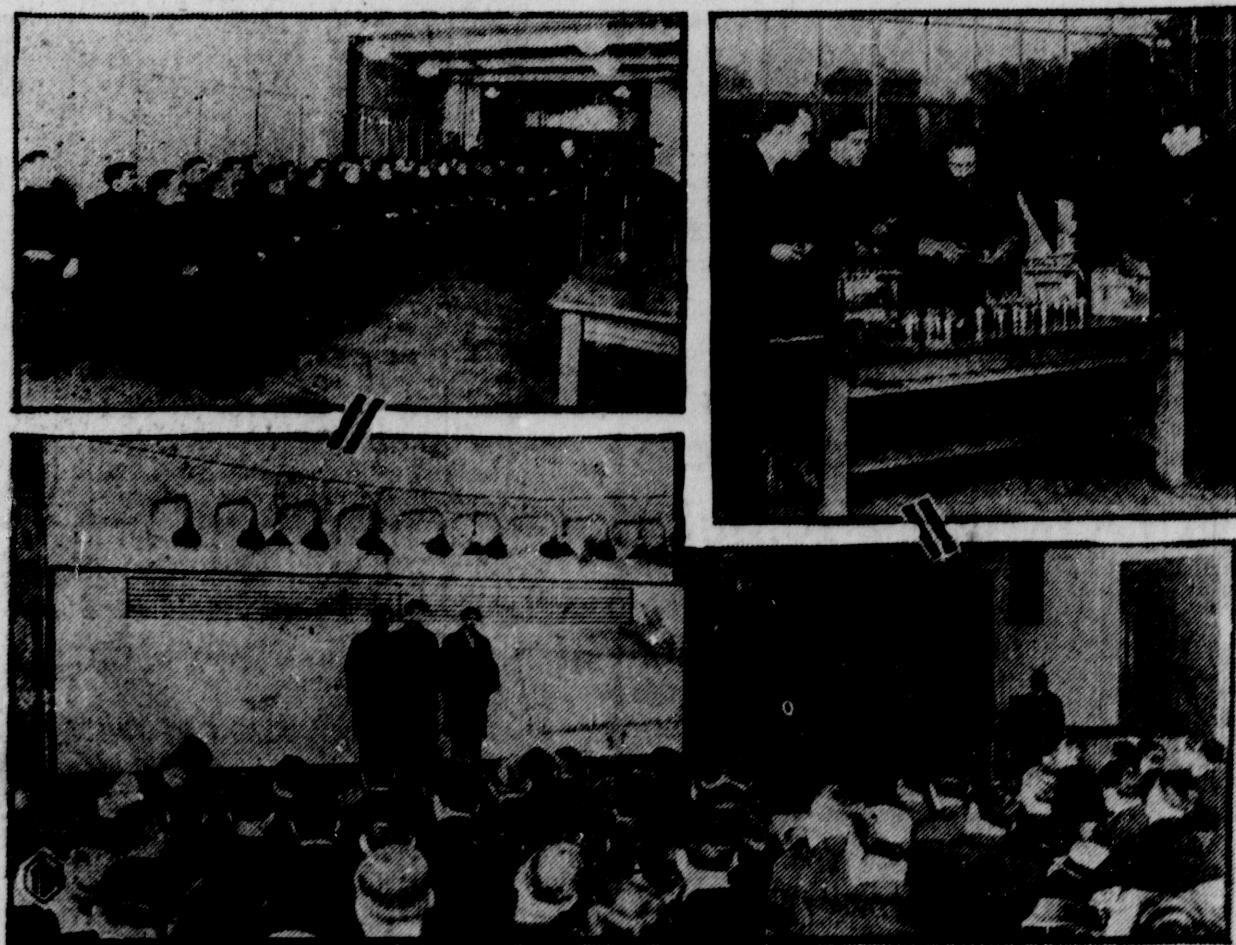

"We know that the American flag will never float over a system of liquor selling," she wrote, going on to state that the wets "claim that the government sale of alcoholic liquors is free from the complications which they say have accompanied prohibition."

"The Canadian official report on the results of government sale in the various provinces will disprove these claims and will effectively put an end to any such campaign in this country," her announcement said.

To Erect Statue of Christopher Columbus

St. Paul, Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—A tentative permit to erect a statue of Christopher Columbus on the state capitol grounds was granted today to the Federated Italian societies of Minnesota by the state executive council. The permit must meet the approval of Cass Gilbert, designer of the capitol, and C. H. Johnston, state architect, before plans are finally approved.

ENRAGED AFTER ARGUMENT, WOMAN SETS MATCH TO SELF

St. Louis, Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—Enraged after an argument with her husband, Mrs. Augusta Widner, 36, burned herself to death by touching a match to her clothing after saturating it with turpentine. Widner was burned in attempting to heat out the flames.

HE HAS BEEN ACCUMULATING DATA 6 MONTHS

IDAHO SENATOR TO MAKE IT PUBLIC WHEN HE DEEMS IT PROPER TIME

ISSUE MAY PROBABLY BE RAISED IN SENATE AFTER THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS
By PAUL R. MALLON

Washington, Dec. 30.—Evidence in support of his charges that open saloons are operating throughout the country and that the alcohol permit system of the treasury department is questionable is held by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, the United Press learned today.

The Idaho dry leader has been accumulating data for the past six months, it was learned, and may make it public when he deems it the proper time, probably when the issue is raised on the floor of the senate after the Christmas holidays.

Conditions in the districts of 17 United States attorneys are understood to be challenged by this information which led Borah to issue the most sensational attack on enforcement made by a prominent dry since the prohibition law was enacted ten years ago.

As they now stand Borah's charges are three:

1. Prohibition enforcement personnel must undergo a checkup "from top to bottom" if prohibition is ever to be enforced.

2. Practically open saloons are running under the noses of district attorneys throughout the country, and not only in New York and Chicago.

3. The new system under which permits are issued for manufacture and release of industrial alcohol constitutes a scandal for which the enforcement headquarters in Washington is directly responsible.

When Borah made his first charge last Monday, he was met with immediate snafus from Attorney General Mitchell and treasury officials who said a shakeup in personnel was then under way.

His next two charges, made Saturday while his dry friends in the senate were urging him to "stand by the president," brought no comment over the week-end from the White House, justice or treasury departments.

The usual way such charges have been handled by Washington officials is to demand the author of the charge prove his assertions. Three Washington newspapermen recently spent 35 days in jail because they refused to amplify their charges that nearly 80 speakeasies were being operated in Washington.

Sensors Hedin, democrat, Alabama, and Elease, democrat, South Carolina, made somewhat similar charges against local law enforcement conditions and invitations were presented to them to submit their evidence to the grand jury. They did not accept.

The issue has raised such a furor among drys and wets over the holidays that extended debate on the subject is anticipated when the senate reconvenes January 6. At that time reports may be ready from the president's law enforcement commission regarding remedial legislation to be recommended for improvement of conditions.

The wets have been silent during the holiday controversy. A statement was issued last night by Rep. John J. Cochran, democrat, Missouri, denying there was any friction among wet bloc members. He said a meeting of the bloc would be held soon to agree on procedure.

ling Rock. She was recognized as the Black Duck, known as one of the most daring rum-running suspects on the New England rum row.

Boatswain Alexander C. Cornell, in charge of the coast guard vessel, signalled with the ship's siren to halt. The Black Duck increased her speed.

As the Black Duck was gaining, a rapid-fire one pound gun was thrown into action sending shots across the bow of the elusive craft. These shots failed to check the speed of the rum-runner and a firing squad was ordered to open up with machine guns.

With bullets raining in her wake, the Black Duck veered and her bow came in a direct line with the machine gun fire. The pilot house was raked.

Apparently out of control, the Black Duck swerved and then disappeared in the fog beyond range of the patrol boat's searchlight. When the Black Duck reappeared, she was just drifting and there was no sign of life aboard.

Several of the coast guardmen, armed for fear of resistance, boarded her with orders to arrest the crew. As they appeared on the deck, the form of a man clutching a badly wounded arm was noticed outside the pilot house.

The wounded man, later proven to be Travers, slumped to the deck after he had shouted to the coast guards, "We're all shot up."

In the pilot house the boarding party found the bodies of the three victims.

SABBATH DRIVE ON RUM ROW BY COAST GUARD

3 MEMBERS OF NOTORIOUS RUM RUNNER BOAT BLACK DUCK ARE DEAD

Newport, R. I., Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—Three members of the crew of the notorious rum-running speedboat, the Black Duck, dead; its captain wounded; two other smuggling craft captured; $600,000 worth of liquor seized—thus were tabulated today the results of a Sabbath drive on rum row by the coast guard.

The wreck of the Black Duck and the two other craft with their cargoes were tied up at the coast guard base at New London, Conn., today. The bodies of the three men lie in a morgue at Fort Adams, awaiting the official verdicts of all the officials who set about to determine just how they met their deaths.

But there is no mystery about that. They were riddled by machine gun fire from the patrol boat CG-290 at the entrance of Narragansett Bay. According to coast guard officials, they had refused to halt their craft when ordered to heave-to.

In addition to the customary inquiry of coastguard authorities, Henry M. Boss, Jr., United States district attorney, was conducting a separate investigation. He appealed to the department of justice at Boston to assist.

Rhode Island authorities were also engaged in an investigation, based on the fact that the shooting of the crew of the Black Duck occurred within the three-mile territorial limits of the state.

From his hospital bed where he was suffering from machine gun wounds, Charles Travers, captain and sole survivor of the speed boat's crew, declared the coast guard craft had opened fire without proper warning.

The three men killed by machine gun bullets from the government boat were:

Jack Weisman, Providence; Dudley Brandt, Boston, and John Goulart, Fairhaven, Mass. They were found dead in the pilot house.

Superior officers at the New London guard base, from which the patrol boat operated, declared the shootings "unfortunate, but clearly justified by the law covering such cases."

Other than that statement, they refused to talk.

The crew of the CG-290 saw the speed boat running without lights entering Narragansett Bay near Dump-

Stutz Motor Car Co. in Litigation with 3 Creditors

Indianapolis, Dec. 30.—(UP)—A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed against the Stutz Motor Car company of America in federal court here today by three creditors.

In a creditors' petition, the E. C. Atkins company, the Hide, Leather and Belting company, and the Vonnegut Hardware company, claim total bills against the Stutz company of $2,175.98.

Failure to file answer within 20 days would mean automatic adjudication of the bankruptcy.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

December 30, 1904

J. W. Mangen, manager for the Edwards-Wood company commission brokers at this point, will leave tonight for Grand Forks where he will be in charge of the company's office in that city. He is succeeded here by F. J. Schuffelbottom of Sioux City, Ia.

On Monday there will be some changes in the regime of county officers, those elected in November taking charge. There are many of the old officers who will remain, but there will be two important changes, one in the office of county treasurer when S. R. Adair will succeed John T. Frater, and A. G. Trommald will succeed H. J. Spencer in the office of register of deeds. Miss Bess Treglawny will continue as deputy for Mr. Adair in the office of county treasurer.

Dr. Hoorn has returned from a visit with relatives in the southern part of the state.

Silas O. Lum, father of Attorney L. E. Lum, formerly of this city, died yesterday at Minneapolis where he had lived for 50 years.

Mrs. R. A. Beise and Miss Ella Mitchell left this afternoon for Sauk Center where they will visit for a short time with friends.

The recent snow has put the roads in bad shape. Farmers are finding considerable trouble in hauling their wood to the city.

Capt. J. F. Heffner returned from St. Paul this afternoon where he has been on militia business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Glunt expect to leave tonight for the coast to visit with their son.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Upper Mississippi Medical society will be held at Staples on Saturday. Dr. S. W. Mowers of this city will take part in the program.

Dope

"Dope" is from the Dutch word "doop," meaning a thick liquid. It was first applied to the treacle-like preparation of the opium smoker and then to all drugs.

ADDING NEW BEAUTY TO OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE

*New Ford bodies, in beautiful new colors, will be displayed tomorrow
by Ford dealers*

THE Model A Ford was a good car when it was first introduced. It has constantly been made a better car. As soon as improvements are found and tested they are passed on to the public. That work goes steadily on.

Now comes the time when another forward step can be taken and this policy of constant improvement given still further expression. Tomorrow, a new line of Ford bodies will be displayed by Ford dealers.

The introduction of these new Ford bodies is of interest to every motorist. In flowing grace of line and contour—in the carefully planned harmony of every detail of design—they set a new high standard for a low-priced car.

A new, fresh beauty has thus been placed within the means of every one.

All of these new Ford bodies are finished in a variety of beautiful colors, with bright Rustless Steel head lamps, radiator shell, hub caps, tail lamp and cowl finish strip. All have roomy interiors. All bring you the safety, comfort, power, speed, acceleration, ease of control, economy and long-lived reliability that have given the Model A Ford such a high place in the regard of millions of motorists.

SET apart a little while tomorrow to see these new Ford bodies. You will be particularly interested in the manner in which new beauty has been added to outstanding performance. In appearance, as in mechanical construction, craftsmanship has been put into mass production.

Further details and illustrations of the new Ford bodies will appear tomorrow in this newspaper.

A Golden Voice

THE value of a golden voice is well exemplified in the talkies. The voice that is clear, velvety, distinct, is of golden value to its possessor. Of course, voice alone does not make the successful talkie actor, for coupled with it must be acting ability, brains, personality and appearance. But without the voice as first consideration, no one can register for the talkies.

A beautiful voice has its value in all the relations of life. A home blessed with soft-voiced mother and grandmother is ideal indeed. The telephone operator with a silky, "smiling" voice, can soothe many subscribers.

The store employee with the soft, ingratiating voice can smooth out many difficulties.

The rasping, roaring, strident voice is popular with mates aboard ship, with stevedore gangs, with the crowd in its verbal assault on the umpire, etc.

The radio would be inefficient, indeed, in portraying all phases if it did not rely on crooning voices, singing voices, and the talking to convey its messages.

Without a capable voice, the orator would not be able to put his message "across."

Men and women may change their modes of dress, their appearance in many ways, but the voice is a kind of trademark that lingers and distinguishes one from the other.

An odd thing noticeable in the talkies is that many actors, so intent in handling their spoken lines, are not as vivid in pantomime as previously. They put all their attention on the spoken line and less on the pictorial presentation.

Silence Is Dangerous

ELMER C. ADAMS, writing in the Detroit News, says that Mr. Stokowski, leader of the Philadelphia orchestra, requests his audiences not to clap their hands. Instead of correcting an evil he is making a bad matter worse. When music is worthy to evoke a demonstration, the hearers applaud far too little.

The man in the seat is the one I speak for. Tolstoy says in one of his essays that music is harmful to the extent that it arouses emotions which have no outlet in activity. You sit through a fine concert till you feel like rushing out and building an ambassador bridge, writing a "Hamlet," or discovering a North, South, East or West Pole. You can't conveniently do any of these things. But to relieve your pent-up feelings you ought at least to stamp your feet and stand on the seat and yell. You ought to give nine raps and a locomotive under a cheer leader.

And custom forbids even that. You clap your gloved hands sedately, lisp, "Wasn't it wonderful?" and go home and give a penny to the baby. * * * And Stokowski would now suppress the clapping!

It isn't right. We're simply going to burst sometime at a Stokowski concert, and then he'll be sorry.

Must Pay

SEVERAL months ago the Missouri Publisher had an item about the suit brought by the Prospect-News of Doniphan to recover pay for back subscription. The lower court found for the defendant, but the court of appeals at Springfield reversed the verdict and remanded the case for a new trial.

The opinion in the case written by Judge Robert J. Smith, said:

"The preparation and publication of a newspaper involves much mental and physical labor, as well as an outlay of money. One who accepts the paper by continuously taking it from the post-office or from carrier receives a benefit and pleasure arising from such labor and expenditure, as fully as if he had appropriated any other product of another's labor, and must be held liable for the subscription price."

The retrial of the case, in view of the finding of the appeals court, resulted in a verdict for the newspaper. This makes a precedent that should help publishers generally in collecting old subscription accounts, though the paid-in-advance basis would be much better for all.—The Missouri Publisher and Red Wing Eagle.

Activity in the Lake Country

IN line with the increased efforts of the Ten Thousand Lakes-Greater Minnesota association and the State Tourist commission to attract more tourists to the state in 1930, Minnesota hotel and resort owners are making extensive improvements and additions, according to H. C. Hotaling, secretary of the association.

Resort owners in all sections of the state are planning increased facilities for tourists and improvements for their playgrounds. In a letter sent out by Mr. Hotaling considerable attention was paid to developments in the Brainerd Lake Region. It mentioned the extensive building projects including the new four story hotel at Pine Beach on lower Gull lake near Brainerd, and improvements contemplated at Breezy Point Lodge on Big Pelican lake. A Chicago firm is to erect a hotel near Park Rapids.

Crow Wing County Should Exhibit

CROW WING county, which had such a wonderful display of poultry at the Brainerd show held in Gardner hall, should send poultry exhibits to the combined show of the State Poultry association and the Twin City Rabbit club to be held at Minneapolis January 6 to 9.

Entries of more than 4,000 birds and 600 rabbits are expected by the management, as practically every state in the union will be represented.

THE fourth annual poultry show of the Red River Valley Poultry association will be held at Moorhead on January 20 to 24. Birds from nearby states are expected to be entered.

THERE are many slippery walks in Brainerd. Householdors should follow the injunction of the city engineer and use clean ashes or sand to make them safe for pedestrians.

PLANS have been completed for the erection of a hotel on Pokegama Lake near Grand Rapids.

TREES, like human beings, need a lot of sunshine in order to thrive well.

TAKE IT FROM DAD

By Frank H.
Cheley

Is There Really Any God?

"Dad, we got the debating society formed, and she's going to be a warm one. Everybody wants to join now, but she's a closed corporation, and we're going to have our debates behind closed doors." Bob advised his father after both were comfortably settled for the evening with the old log fire in the living room sending out a cheering, warming blaze.

"Why the secrecy?" smiled back the understanding Mr. Smithbough.

"Well, we're going to debate a lot of mighty important questions, and we don't want to be bothered with any wisecracks from anyone who does not mean business. I've got to be getting at my side of one tonight. It's a tough one, too, and perhaps, as usual, you can help me."

"Yes, perhaps. But how do you know we'll both be on the same side?"

"Well, I never thought of that, but I bet we are, 'cause I know you. Here it is: 'Is There Really Any God?' and I've got the affirmative."

Dad smiled quietly, with the remark, "That is some question, and as new as the ages. I'd hate to have the negative, Bob."

"Well, I don't know, Dad. Of course we believe there is a God. You and mother have always taught me there was, and it's nice to believe there is but, Dad, honest the 'preponderance of evidence' (Mr. Smithbough coughed to save the chuckle that just would come) is against the idea, that is, it's easy to believe what you want to believe, but it's not so easy to prove it. With all that's been said and written, nobody has ever really seen him, Dad, and isn't seeing proof?"

"But, here, Bob, I thought you had the affirmative?"

"Yes, Dad, I have, but I'm just trying to get you to argue. The trouble is, I don't know where to begin. I can't just dish up a lot of beliefs. I've got to have facts, and say, Dad, facts about God are mighty scarce."

"You mean about how He looks and talks and what He eats? Yes, those sort of facts will be hard to get. But, Bob, use your brain! You do not necessarily have to see a thing to be absolutely convinced that it exists, do you? That would be childish. If you had a terrible pain in your tooth and came to me for relief and I looked in your mouth and said, 'Boy, you must be mistaken. I can't see any pain, you'd think me utterly unreasonable, wouldn't you. Yet, there is a pain because you can feel it.'"

"There is an incandescent electric globe burning in your desk light. I say to you, 'how come?' You say, 'electricity, of course.' I say, 'but I don't see any electricity. How does it come, by the pound or the peck?'"

"Now, Bob, to me the surest way to know there is a God is to feel him and see His presence in 'lighted faces' and in countless situations and circumstances which cannot be explained without a belief in His presence."

"Bob, when you are impelled to do a kind and generous act; when you are impelled to play square when you have an opportunity to cheat to your advantage, and after a moral wrestle you do the splendid thing, that's God in you."

"No man or boy who is living up to his very best in every way, day by day, doubts that there is a God even when they do seriously doubt other men's interpretations of God."

"On the other hand, Bob, did you ever fail in a situation when some one was counting on you to be big, fine, and splendid? Did you ever feel sick at heart and utterly ashamed and perhaps go off and cry and then declare that never again would you so utterly forget yourself? That's God you feel!"

"But there is much evidence to see, too, Bob, that is quite as irrefutable. There is one fine little spot in the life of Napoleon that is great. He was once on the deck of a vessel at sea when a group of skeptical officers, wise in their own conceits were debating the same question you are about to debate, only they had all taken the negative. Napoleon stood quietly wrapped in his great military coat listening and finally he raised his hand, and pointing to the star-filled sky, he said quietly, 'And, gentlemen, who made all that?' The debate was over."

"Who can study the marvels of the human body; who can watch spring come in the garden or in the wilderness; who can look but for a few hours into the microscope to observe the absolute order and majesty of life unfolding, growing, maturing and again reproducing itself, and say there is no infinite or universal cause which we name God for want of a better name?"

"Dad, I see it and feel it and know it, but it's hard to express, isn't it?"

"Bob, I can't imagine our little finite human minds being able to prove much at all about the majestic infinite cause." If we could define and classify and prove out God, I'd be afraid after all He wasn't big enough for His job of keeping a hundred million worlds organized and on the move."

"Dad, I bet I can win that debate!" And he did!

EASTERN TEAM TO BUILD ITS PLAYS AROUND NAGURSKI

MINNESOTAN IN SHIFT FROM LINE TO THE BACKFIELD

WESTERN FANS THINK STANFORD VICTORY PRESAGES WEST WIN IN EAST-WEST

INJURIES MAY PUT 3 STARS OUT OF ACTION, DOWLER, LOM AND SLOAN

San Francisco, Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—Football fans were hopeful today that the Stanford victory over West Point on Saturday would prove an omen of victory for the west in the Shrine all-star east-west game here on New Year's Day.

Coach Percy Looney of the Olympic Club drilled his men on St. Mary's college field. The last team, coached by Andy Kerr of Colgate and Dick Hanley of Northwestern, has been equally active in practice at Stanford, and is a slight favorite.

Injuries may deprive spectators of seeing three stars in action. A leg injury has put Tommy Dowler of Colgate on the sidelines of the east team, while Benny Lom, California punter and backfield star, and Clair Sloan, Nebraska halfback, are both out of uniform for the west, with injuries received in scrimmages.

Advance information indicates that the westerners will play an open game while eastern power plays, built around Bronko Nagurski, Minnesota, who has been shifted from the line to the backfield, will mark the basic attack of the invaders.

Colorful exhibitions by Shrine bands and drill teams will precede the game, the proceeds from which are to go to the Shrine hospital for crippled children.

Kezar stadium is expected to be filled to capacity, with more than 50,000 spectators.

BROOKLYN BALL TEAM REJUVENATED

UNCLE WILBERT ROBINSON PROMISES MANY IMPROVEMENTS

(Copyright, 1929, by United Press.) New York, Dec. 30.—Uncle Wilbert Robinson's promise of a greatly improved Brooklyn ball club featured predictions concerning the 1930 National League pennant race made for the United Press today by managers.

Signing himself "president and manager of the Brooklyn baseball club," Robinson wired from Brunswick, Ga.:

"I think Brooklyn will have the best team we have had for several years."

"I have every reason to believe Glenn Wright will be playing regularly at shortstop."

"If Dazzy Vance, Jumbo Elliott and Buzz McWeeney pitch as they should pitch, and the other promising young hurlers I have lined up improve as they should over last season, I am sure we will finish in the first division and satisfy our loyal friends in Brooklyn and around the National League circuit."

The Pittsburgh Pirates are going to be fighting for the flag, according to word from their manager, Jewel Ens.

Having just taken over the Cincinnati Reds, Dan Howley, former manager of the St. Louis Browns, is hesitant to make rash predictions concerning his new club in 1930.

From a vantage point at Palm Beach, Fla., Howley wired the United Press:

"It is hard for me to say at this time just what is the outlook for the Cincinnati Reds in 1930."

"A little later on I will be in a better position to say what are our hopes for the coming year."

Gabby Street, newly appointed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals as successor to Bill McKee, is more laconic in the matter of predictions for the coming year than when he wore mask and mitt and "rode" opposing batters.

"The present outlook for my club is good," Street wired.

SHIRES MAY BE 'LICKING' SAME MAN MORE THAN ONCE

Chicago, Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—An ugly rumor that the fights of Arthur (The Great) Shires were not all good, clean fun raised its head here today.

Some contended Bad Bill Bailey, who went horizontal before "Mc-me" Shires' gloves at Buffalo was none other than Mysterious Dan Daly, who nose-dived for Shires when he first took up fighting as a paying proposition here a month ago.

Others alleged Mean Mike Haley and Sullivan Sam Staley, gentlemen with whom Arthur is to fight in the near future in eastern rings, is, or are, none other than Bad Bill Bailey, who was, or is, Mysterious Dan.

Of one thing, however, there is no doubt. George Trafton, who whipped Arthur the Great, was Mr. Trafton himself.

FOOTBALL COACHES GATHER IN N. Y. CITY

ASSOCIATION IS ONE OF MOST POWERFUL FACTORS IN FOOTBALL

By GEORGE KIRKSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Dec. 30.—(U.P.)—Football coaches from all the nation convened at the Hotel Astor today for the annual meeting of the Football Coaches Association—the first national gathering of coaches since the publication of the Carnegie Foundation's bulletin No. 23 in which the coaches were criticized for their part in the subsidizing and proselytizing of athletes and the over-emphasis of sport.

Although it was expected that some unofficial comments regarding the Carnegie report might be made, it is unlikely that any official action will be taken.

The Coaches Association has become one of the most powerful factors in football and its advisory committee now sits in at the deliberations of the football rules committee.

Last year the coaches succeeded in having the fumble rule put in the code. Now some of the coaches advocate making a fumble a loose ball again and the discussion over this proposal is likely to become heated.

Two of the stock subjects of controversy—the point after touchdown, and the return of the goal post to the goal line—are certain to receive attention.

BRainerd HIGH, BEMIDJI RENEW RIVALRY JAN. 3

LOCAL QUINT STARTS INTENSIVE TRAINING FOR BIG OFFICIAL OPENING GAME

CLOSE SCORES FEATURE MEETS OF TWO SNAPPY QUINTS IN YEARS PAST

Bemidji will clash with the Brainerd high school basketball team on Friday evening, January 3, in what will be termed the big official opening of the new Brainerd high school gymnasium and promises to be a classic of the season despite such an early date.

Bemidji has played four games this year, and on Friday evening beat Cass Lake 31 to 10. Bemidji has a number of veterans back, including Vipond and McCluskey, and have been practicing since early in November.

Brainerd won last year's game by one point with a score of 16 to 15. E. Foster putting in the winning free throw. In 1927 the score was 20 to 19, in favor of Bemidji. Both games were played at Bemidji. The game the year before was at Brainerd with a score of 17 to 14, in favor of Bemidji.

Coach Kasch's team started intensive practice this afternoon at 3:15 o'clock and will scrimmage against some of the college men who are soon leaving for school. The absence of Marshall and Halvorson due to illness will mean a handicap to the Brainerd team. Both were possibilities of becoming regulars. They will not be able to join the team for at least two weeks.

In this year's team Bernard Foster and Arthur Hautala are the only ones who played against Bemidji last year. Guin played two years ago.

The Brainerd B squad will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All interested will report for practice.

The referee for Friday's game will be Lewis of Moose Lake.

The Brainerd Ladies' Band, under direction of Winnifred Cronk Ziebell, will play before the game and during quarter intermissions.

Some Sport Curiosities

By HARDIN BURNLEY.

Ernie NEVERS. WHO SCORED ALL OF HIS TEAM'S 40 POINTS AGAINST CHICAGO'S BEARS—THE BIG SCORING FEAT OF 1929!

"Spook" DOWLER

WHO SCORED A TOUCHDOWN IN THE FIRST FIVE MINUTES OF EVERY ONE OF COLGATE'S 9 GAMES THIS YEAR—

NOT FORGETTING GENTLE'S 101 YD. TOUCHDOWN RUN AGAINST CORNELL!

THE SPORT BUG.

BURNLEY 12-30

COLGATE football statisticians point out that their great back, Tom ("Spook") Dowler, made a touchdown in the first five minutes of all the nine games which their team played during the past season. He registered Colgate's only score against Wisconsin soon after the opening kick-off in the lone game his team lost. The Badgers won, 13 to 6, but after that—the second game in their schedule—Colgate was invincible, rating high indeed among the nation's most powerful teams during November.

Wednesday, all eyes will focus on "Spook" Dowler when he plays for the East against an All-Star West team at San Francisco. Will he be able to make a touchdown within five minutes after the first kick-off?

If Dowler starts the game, Colgate men are likely to wager even money that their favorite "Spook" will ghost or bang his way across the West's goal line in that short order!

Professional football put an extraordinary feat in the records when the famous Ernie Nevers scored all the Chicago Cardinals' 40 points when they overhauled the Chicago Bears, a few weeks ago. Ernie scored six touchdowns, booting four goals from the same!

Wednesday, all eyes will focus on "Spook" Dowler when he plays for the East against an All-Star West team at San Francisco. Will he be able to make a touchdown within five minutes after the first kick-off?

As a pro, Nevers seems to play even more powerfully than he did at Stanford. He is one of those who seem to prove the claim that the average college grid star is just ascending when graduated.

"Dick" Gentle, Penn back, made a 101-yard touchdown run from a kick-off in the Cornell game. The ball got away from him at first bounding over his own goal line, thus accounting for that extra yard beyond the hundred. One or two similar runs were reported in other games, but Gentle's stands out since it was made in the Penn-Cornell annual classic.
